Visiting Assistant Professor

GRANTS AND AWARDS

External Grants and Awards

2021 A comparative study of the impact of displacement on multilingualism and language endangerment. National Science Foundation: Dynamic Language Infrastructure Award No. BCS-2109620. $424,540 (project period 2021–2025; PI).

2018 Doctoral dissertation research: Documenting tense, aspect, mood and polarity in Iyasa (yko). National Science Foundation: Documenting Endangered Languages Award No. BCS-1830273. $18,472 (nominal PI for Braden Brown).

Socio-spatial approaches to the analysis of multilingualism. National Science Foundation: Linguistics, Geography, and Documenting Endangered Languages Award No. BCS-1761639. $531,114 (project period 2018–2022; PI).

2014 Language documentation, fieldwork training models, and computational tools for understanding linguistic stability and change. National Science Foundation: Documenting Endangered Languages Award No. BCS-1360763. $424,967 (project period 2014–2017; PI).

2014 Doctoral dissertation research: Linguistic avoidance and social relations. National Science Foundation: Linguistics and Cultural Anthropology Award No. BCS-1422677. $14,471 (project period 2014–2015; nominal PI for Alice Mitchell).

ComputEL: A workshop to explore the use of computational methods in the study of endangered languages. National Science Foundation: Linguistics, Robust Intelligence, Documenting Endangered Languages Award No. BCS-1404352. $25,007 (project period 2014–2015; PI).

2013 Doctoral dissertation research: Research on Xong (ISO 639-3 code mmr), a Miao-Yao Language of Hunan Province, China. National Science Foundation: Linguistics, Award No. BCS-1251564. $9,790 (project period 2013–2015; nominal PI for Adam Sposato).

2012 US–Cameroon workshop on sociolinguistic language documentation in sub-Saharan Africa in conjunction with the seventh World Congress of African Linguistics, August 2012. National Science Foundation: Catalyzing New International Collaborations, Documenting Endangered Languages Award No. OISE-1160649. $46,594 (project period 2012–2013; PI).

2011 Linguistic and ethnographic documentation aimed at identifying loci of cultural and linguistic reproduction in two communities speaking endangered Bantoid languages. Endangered Languages Documentation Programme Postgraduate Fellowship, Award No. IPF0180. £42,893 (project period: 2012; sponsor for Dr. Pierpaolo Di Carlo).

A pilot project to survey the Buea Archives and other potentially endangered archives in western Cameroon. Endangered Archives Programme, Award No. EAP506 £10,348 (project period: 2011; PI).

2009 Towards an areal grammar of Lower Fungom. National Science Foundation: Documenting Endangered Languages, Award No. BCS-0853981. $319,725 (project period: 2009–2013; PI).

Toward an integrated plan for digital preservation and access to primary anthropological data (Anthro-DataDPA): A four-field workshop. National Science Foundation: Cultural Anthropology, Award No. BCS-0823404. $72,775 (project period: 2009–2010; co-PI).

2008 INTEROP: Lexicon Enhancement via the GOLD Ontology (LEGO). National Science Foundation: Linguistics, Award No. BCS-0753321. $636,443 (project period: 2008–2013; co-PI).

2007 Pangloss: An interlinear glossing tool within an existing application platform. National Science Foundation: Linguistics, Award No. BCS-0715246. $15,625 (project period: 2008; PI).

Documenting Endangered Languages Fellowship for research on Furu Awa languages. National Endowment for the Humanities, Award No. RZ-50817-07. $14,498 (project period: 2007).

2006 Documenting Endangered Languages Fellowship for research on Western Beoid languages. National Endowment for the Humanities, Award No. FN-50005. $24,000 (project period: 2007–2008).

Internal Grants and Awards

2017 Socio-spatial networks and language use in a rural and multilingual African context. UB Innovative Micro-Programs Accelerating Collaboration in Themes (IMPACT) grant. $35,000 (project period 2017–2018; with Ling Bian, Geography).

Digital Scholarship Pathways. UB Professional Pathways for the Arts and Humanities program. $10,000 (project period: 2017; with Nikolaus Wasmoen, English)

2009 University at Buffalo Humanities Institute Faculty Fellow (course release Spring 2009).

Digital Humanities Initiative at Buffalo summer research grant for data acquisition for the Northeastern North American Indigenous Languages Archive pilot project. $2,400 (project period: 2009; with Michalis Petropoulos, Computer Science and Engineering).

2008 Extending a preservation archive through a social network. UB 2020 Interdisciplinary Research Development Fund. $24,000 (project period: 2009; with Michalis Petropoulos and Thom Slomka).

Digital Humanities Initiative at Buffalo summer research grant for tool development for the Northeastern North American Indigenous Languages Archive pilot project. $2,600 (project period: 2008; with Michalis Petropoulos).

Digital Library Center grant for equipment to support the Northeastern North American Indigenous Languages Archive pilot project. $500 (project period: 2008).

2007 Julian Park Publication Fund grant from College of Arts and Sciences to support editing of Linguistic universals and language change. $2,305 (project period: 2007).

- Bantoid lexical diversity from an individual-based perspective. Keynote presentation at the First Conference on Bantoid Languages and Linguistics (Bantoid), University of Hamburg, March 24–25 (delivered remotely).
- Exploring the use of individual-based wordlists collected in small-scale multilingual communities. University of Indiana, February 11 (delivered remotely).
- 2021 Open Access publishing panel. University at Buffalo Libraries and SUNY’s Office of Library Information Services, October 29 (participated remotely).
- Individual-level lexical variation in the Bantu homeland and its implications for the development of Benue-Congo. Diedrich Westermann, west-central African linguistic history between Macro-Sudan Belt and Niger-Congo workshop. Humboldt University, October 4–6 (delivered remotely).
- Exploring the use of individual-based wordlists collected in small-scale multilingual communities. University of Rochester, September 17.
- Building a Revitalization Helpdesk: Workshop on Digital Tools and Resources for Revitalization Practitioners Worldwide, sponsored by the Endangered Languages Project, March 27-29 (participated remotely).

- 2020 Explaining multilingual repertoires in small-scale societies at the individual level. University of Melbourne, November 6 (delivered remotely).
- 2020 Modelling the development of the morphologically hybrid nature of the Bantu Final Vowels. The Philological Society, London, May 1 (delivered remotely).
- 2019 Discussant. Linguistic Society of America Annual Meeting satellite workshop Documenting Multilingualism: Contact, and Documenting Endangered Languages. New York, January 6.
- 2018 Proto-Bantu verbal form: The verb stem. International conference on reconstructing proto-Bantu grammar. University of Ghent. November 19–23
- Multilingualisms, political configurations, and rural spaces in Cameroon. Language Endangerment and Political Instability conference. University of North Texas, October 4–5.
- Mapping multilingual repertoires A case study of a rural African region. Twenty-second Foundation for Endangered Languages conference. Vigdís International Centre for Multilingualism and Intercultural Understanding, University of Iceland, Reykjavik, August 23–25.
- Second developing Metadata Editing and Collection Management Tools for Linguistics (MEaCoM 2) workshop. University of Florida, Gainesville, June 23.
- Linguistic Society of America webinar on applying for NSF Doctoral Dissertation Research Improvement Grants. February 2.
- 2017 First developing Metadata Editing and Collection Management Tools for Linguistics (MEaCoM 1) workshop. Interdisciplinary Centre for Social and Language Documentation (CIDLeS), Alcanena, Portugal. October 23–24.
- Documenting multilingualism in rural Africa: The case of Lower Fungom. University of Texas, Austin, October 2.
- Interdisciplinarity in language documentation: Documenting language dynamics and multilingualism in Lower Fungom, Cameroon. Fifth International Endangered and Lesser-known Languages Conference, Ranchi, Jharkhand, India, February 24–26 (delivered remotely).
- 2016 EL-STEC 2016: Endangered Languages–Shared Task Evaluation Challenges workshop. University of Washington, September 14–15.
- Language and health. Community for Global Health Equity: Global Health Dialogues. University at Buffalo, April 22.
- Stability under contact as a guide to reconstruction: Noun classes, argument alignment, and the Macro-Sudan belt. Forty-seventh Annual Conference on African Linguistics, Berkeley, March 23–26.
- Data integration for language documentation: Developing technologies for long-term, team-based investigation. Fourth International Endangered and Lesser-known Languages Conference, Agra, India, February 25–27 (delivered remotely).
- 2015 Chair of panel on Motivations. Workshop entitled, African multilingualism: Motivations, modalities, movement and meaning. British Academy, London, September 8–9.
- Workshop on unified annotation tooling. Florida International University, March 29–30.

- 2015 Restructuring “vanishing voices”: The digital commodification of endangered languages. Colloquium entitled, Structures of digital feeling. University at Buffalo, March 27–28.
- From capturing languages to delineating repertoires: Documentary methodologies and the linguistic culture of the Cameroonian Grassfields. Baraza Lecture Series, University of Florida Center for African Studies, March 20.
- 2014 Invited address for the Second Convocation Ceremony of Catholic University of Cameroon, Bamenda, December 5.
- Automatically Annotated Repository of Digital Audio and Video Resources Community (AARDVARC) workshop. University of Texas, Austin, October 15–16.
- Inaugural meeting of the SUNY Arts and Humanities Network of Excellence. Purchase College, Purchase, New York, May 14.
- 2013 Magical ideologies of language change: Connecting micro-level variation to macro-areal diversification. Language Variation & Change Workshop, University of Chicago, November 4.
- Patterns of grammatical complexity in pidgins and creoles. Workshop entitled, Creole and pidgin language structure in cross-linguistic perspective. Max Planck Institute for Evolutionary Anthropology, Leipzig, August 18–19.
- The LEGO and RELISH projects. Workshop on electronic dictionaries of minor languages, Max Planck Institute for Evolutionary Anthropology, Leipzig, June 10.
- Dissociating codes, communities, and cultures in the Cameroonian Grassfields. Panel on language endangerment in the multilingual setting of Africa convened as part of conference entitled Language Documentation: Past – Present – Future. Herrenhausen, Hannover, Germany, June 5–7.
- Chair of annotation/transcription practices working group. Automatically Annotated Repository of Digital Audio and Video Resources Community (AARDVARC) workshop. Eastern Michigan University, May 9–11.
- From documenting languages to documenting language dynamics: Experiences from Lower Fungom, Cameroon. One of a series of talks on interdisciplinary approaches to endangered language documentation organized as part of the Third International Conference on Language Documentation and Conservation, University of Hawai‘i at Mānoa, February 28–March 3.
- Which communities? What kinds of collaboration? Cooperating with diverse research partners in Cameroon. Workshop entitled Methodology and practice in collaborative language research, held as part of the annual meeting of the Linguistic Society of America, Boston, January 3–6.
- 2012 Pierpaolo Di Carlo and Jeff Good. Trees, waves, and magnets? The role of language ideologies in Benue-Congo diversification. Conference entitled Proto-Niger-Congo: Comparison and reconstruction, Center for African Linguistics, Languages, and Cultures, Paris, September 18–21.
- Maintaining coherence in the documentary record: A “second phase” problem for language documentation technology. Workshop entitled The impact of DoBeS technology on empirical and theoretical linguistics, Max Planck Institute for Psycholinguistics, July 5–6.

- 2012 What kind of endangerment? Language documentation and language ideologies in the Cameroonian Grassfields. Keynote speaker at the 2012 Cornell Undergraduate Linguistics Colloquium, Cornell University, April 21.
- Workshop on less networked speaker communities and digital language archives, University of Virginia, March 26–27.
- Partly lost, but not forgotten: Non-prototypical noun class systems in the Cameroon–Nigeria borderlands and their role in understanding change in Niger-Congo. University of Rochester, February 24.
- 2011 Wordlists as a test case for semantic and structural interoperation. Workshop entitled Rendering Endangered Language Lexicons Interoperable through Standards Harmonization: RELISH meets LOEWE, University of Frankfurt, October 10.
- “Community” collaboration in Africa: Experiences from Northwest Cameroon. Keynote lecture at workshop on applied language documentation in sub-Saharan Africa, School of Oriental and African Studies, University of London, May 14.
- What are we trying to preserve? Diversity, change, and ideology at the edge of the Cameroonian Grassfields. Hans Rausing Endangered Languages Project Annual Public Lecture, School of Oriental and African Studies, University of London, May 12.
- Frontier dynamics and linguistic diversity at the northern edge of the Grassfields, Fourth International Conference on Bantu Languages (B4ntu), Humboldt University, April 7–9.
- Grammars in the cloud: Linking grammatical data into grammatical stories. Colloquium on electronic grammaticography, held as part of the Second International Conference on Language Documentation and Conservation, University of Hawai‘i at Mānoa, February 11–13.
- Broadening documentary focus: Lower Fungom in areal perspective. Symposium entitled Documenting endangered languages: NSF–NEH DEL projects in honor of the twentieth anniversary of the LSA panel on endangered languages, held as part of the annual meeting of the Linguistic Society of America, Pittsburgh, January 6–9.
- 2010 From documentation to description and beyond. Colgate University, November 3.
- Models and technologies to facilitate wordlist interoperation. Rendering Endangered Language Lexicons Interoperable through Standards Harmonization (RELISH) workshop on lexicon tools and lexicon standards, Max Planck Institute for Psycholinguistics, August 4–5.
- Untangling some ordering conspiracies: Reassessing the source of grammatical relations in Bantu. SFB 632 international conference on information structure, University of Potsdam, July 8–10.
- Linking Bantu to Benue-Congo: A view from the northern fringe of the Grassfields. Workshop on genealogical language classification in Africa beyond Greenberg, Humboldt University, February 21–22.
- How to become a “Kwa” noun? University of Toronto, January 22.
- 2009 Good, Jeff and Jesse Lovegren. Areal dynamics and linguistic diversity: The case of Lower Fungom. Workshop entitled Towards polylectal grammars of African languages, University of Hamburg, November 27–29.

- 2009 Chair of Collaboration and Outreach Working Group. Endangered languages information and infrastructure workshop, University of Utah, November 12–14. (Report published at <http://linguistlist.org/eliip/WG6-ELIIP.pdf>.)
- Linguistic anthropology in the twenty-first century. Colgate University, October 28.
- From documentation to description and beyond. Colgate University, October 28.
- Shaping digital linguistics. University of Michigan, October 2.
- How to become a “Kwa” noun? Michigan State University, March 5.
- Migration, diversification, contact, and ideology (among other things): Towards an areal grammar of Lower Fungom. Humanities Institute Faculty Fellows Lecture Series, University at Buffalo, February 11.
- 2008 Living Sources in Lexical Description planning meeting. Max Planck Digital Library, Berlin, September 30–October 1.
- Information-structure alignment and sentential fields: Reassessing Bantu’s syntactic typology. University of Toronto, May 2.
- 2007 A twice-mixed creole? Tracing the history of a prosodic split in the Saramaccan lexicon. Dartmouth College, November 15.
- Digital data and language documentation. Dartmouth College, November 15.
- Reference databases, research databases, and typological databases. Syntactic Structure of the World’s Languages Database project meeting, New York University, November 9–10.
- Co-chair of the Tools interoperability and input/output formats working group. Workshop entitled Towards the interoperability of language resources, Stanford University, July 13–15. (Report published at <http://linguistlist.org/tilr/working-group-reports/Working%20Group%201.pdf>.)
- From discourse serialization to templatization in the development of the Bantu verb. Wayne State University, April 20.
- Discourse-serialization, Benue-Congo, and Bantu templatization. Rice University, February 8.
- 2006 Organizational workshop for the Oliver Wilke Foundation for Languages. Giessen, Germany, December 1–3.
- Annual meeting of the Digital Endangered Languages and Musics Archive Network. School of Oriental and African Studies, University of London, November 2–3.
- Working session on the design of the Language Variation Library. Center for the Advanced Study of Language, University of Maryland, April 14.
- Information structure and argument order in Benue-Congo. University at Buffalo, January 30.
- Why is Saramaccan different? Panel entitled Prosodic descriptions of creole languages: Implications for creole formation, held as part of the annual winter meeting of the Society for Pidgin and Creole Linguistics, Albuquerque, January 7.
- 2005 First internal working meeting for the Deep Linguistic Processing with HPSG Initiative (DELPH-IN). Lisbon, August 18–20.

- 2005 Summarizer. Conference entitled Language documentation: Theory, practice, values, Harvard University, July 9–11.
- General Ontology for Linguistic Description liaison for the Caucasian, Turkic, and Mongolic Working Group. E-MELD Workshop 2005: Linguistic ontologies and data categories for language resources, Cambridge, Massachusetts, July 1–3.
- Good, Jeff and Emily M. Bender. Descriptive morphological analysis in Montage: Developing a tool for the morphological analysis of underdescribed languages. School of Oriental and African Studies, University of London, June 21.
- Data, standards, and services: Towards a general model for linguistic databases. University of Chicago, April 7.
- Can GOLD “cope” with WALS? An examination of some of the problems for ontologies posed by typological databases. University of Washington, April 4.
- Data, standards, and services: Towards a general model for linguistic databases. University of California, Berkeley, March 31.
- 2004 Planning meeting for the development of the General Ontology of Linguistic Description, Fresno, California, November 12–13.
- Language documentation and description in the digital age: An overview of initiatives for enhancing the discoverability and interoperability of linguistic resources. University of Washington, November 8.
- Standards and ontologies for digital language documentation: An overview of some initiatives in creating long-lasting, interoperable linguistic resources. University of Leipzig, November 4.
- Causativization and applicativization in Bantu: Reflections on fixed suffix order in the family. University of Pittsburgh, October 13.
- Causativization and applicativization in Bantu. Max Planck Institute for Evolutionary Anthropology, September 7.
- Chair of the Entrance Hall Working Group. E-MELD Workshop 2004: Linguistic databases and best practice, Detroit, Michigan, July 15–18. (Report published at <http://emeld.org/workshop/2004/proceedings/wg-1-report.pdf>.)
- Split prosody in Saramaccan. European Science Foundation Network Tone and Intonation in Europe workshop on the typology of tone and intonation, Cascais, Portugal, April 1–3.
- 2003 Where’s linearity? University of Pittsburgh, October 22.
- Co-chair of Resource Discovery Working Group. E-MELD Workshop 2003: Digitizing and annotating texts and field recordings, East Lansing, Michigan, July 11–13. (Report published at http://emeld.org/workshop/2003/Resource_Discovery.html.)
- Tone or accent: Putting two pieces of Saramaccan phonology together. Eastern Michigan University, February 12.
- Tone or accent: Putting two pieces of Saramaccan phonology together. University of Pittsburgh, February 3.

2002 Arguments as adjuncts: Negation and object preposing in Leggbó. Society of Linguistics Undergraduates' mini-symposium, University of California, Berkeley, October 26.

France–Berkeley Fund project Linguistic Phylogenies in the Bantu Domain workshop, Lyon, France, December 12–15.

E-MELD Workshop 2002: Digitizing lexical information, Ypsilanti, Michigan, August 3–5.

Other Presentations

2021 Finding words: Domains of linearization and the word/phrase distinction. Fifth American International Morphology Meeting, The Ohio State University, August 26–29 (delivered remotely).

Jeff Good, Clayton Hamre and Pierpaolo Di Carlo. Lexical and spatial networks in a rural multilingual setting. Second Small-Scale Multilingualism conference, University of Helsinki, August 16–18 (delivered remotely).

Nelson T. Tschonghongi, Pierpaolo Di Carlo and Jeff Good. Sociolinguistic influence in speech heterogeneity. Second Small-Scale Multilingualism conference, University of Helsinki, August 16–18 (delivered remotely).

Rachel A. Ojong Diba, Pierpaolo Di Carlo and Jeff Good. How fragile is small-scale multilingualism? A multidimensional assessment of the endangerment of small-scale multilingualism in Cameroon. The second Small-Scale Multilingualism conference, University of Helsinki, August 16–18 (delivered remotely).

Typologizing linearization constraints to test hypotheses regarding linguistic levels. Presented at a workshop on Constituency, wordhood and the morphology-syntax distinction, CNRS-DDL, University of Lyon II, April 30 (delivered remotely).

Good, Jeff and Clayton Hamre. Realizing relationships through the collection of spatial data in a documentary project. Workshop offered as part of the seventh International Conference on Language Documentation and Conservation, University of Hawai'i at Mānoa, March 4–7 (delivered remotely).

2020 Good, Jeff, Pierpaolo Di Carlo, and Nelson Tschonghongi. The causes and consequences of deliberate language change in the Cameroonian Grassfields. Annual meeting of the Linguistic Society of America, New Orleans, January 2–5.

2019 Good, Jeff, Pierpaolo Di Carlo, Penghang Liu, Yujia Pan, Ling Bian, and Clayton Hamre. Individual-based socio-spatial networks as a tool for areal typology. Paper presented at the 13th Conference of the Association for Linguistic Typology (ALT), University of Pavia, September 4-6.

Pierpaolo Di Carlo and Jeff Good. Indexical order, identity targets, and the typology of multilingualism. Typology of small-scale multilingualism conference. Lyon, April 15–17.

Documenting multilingualism as part of the KPAAM-CAM project. Central New York Humanities Corridor working group on Documenting Multilingualism. University of Rochester, April 5.

Socio-spatial networks as a tool for exploring individual-level multilingualism. Second annual Buffalo-Toronto workshop: Linguistic perspectives on variation. University of Toronto, March 16.

Mapping multilingual repertoires. University at Buffalo Libraries Digital Dialogues series. February 26.

2018 Mapping multilingual repertoires. Lightning talk at the New York Digital Humanities Symposium. University at Buffalo, December 1.

- 2018 Panelist for session entitled The Accessibility of Scholarship: Broadening Expertise from the Academy to the Individual. University at Buffalo Libraries Open Access Symposium, October 15.
- 2017 Logical dependencies and structural relations in a database of linguistic constructions. Workshop on design principles and comparisons of typological databases. 12th Conference of the Association for Linguistic Typology (ALT), Australian National University, December 12–14.
- Uncovering the typological profile of fluentive alignment in Niger-Congo. 12th Conference of the Association for Linguistic Typology (ALT), Australian National University, December 12–14.
- Mapping multilingual repertoires in Lower Fungom. Borders of Bantu workshop. Leiden University, October 27.
