ANNIE RABE FRESHMAN
MAJOR

- My major is Speech Pathology. I have been aspiring down this path ever since my younger sister was diagnosed with Audio Processing Central Disorder (APCD).
The type of job I will be looking for after I graduate college, is to be a speech pathologist clinically. I am hoping to go to graduate school and get my Master’s Degree at Boston University.
I was born in Franklin, MA. Therefore, I am a die hard Red Sox fan. With winning the World Series, they have so much pride and passion that they play for their city.

What Has CSE 101 Taught Me?

I have learned a wide variety of things from CSE. The following points only summarize a few of the vast facts that I have acquired these past ten weeks.

- Computer’s have their own language. From packets, to routers, to CPU’s to RAM drives, there are multiple terms that define the “computer world”.
- The internet has an IP addresses, which is the main way of communication.
