Simple Sentences:

I eat my food.

My Uncle John is from Madrid, Spain. (Uncle is capitalized because it is a title.)

My uncle, John, is from Madrid, Spain. (Uncle is not capitalized because it is a description.)

Compound Sentences:

This year my family is going to Iraq, and I will go with them.

I would like to fly like a bird, but I can’t.

Complex Sentences:

Because she liked the climate, she chose to live in California.

She chose to live in California because she liked the climate.

I want to work after I finish learning the English language.

She was very tired because she worked overtime last time.

When my family landed in Buffalo, I was waiting at the airport.

I can not sleep in this class because I do not have a bed.

Compound Complex Sentences:

The dog lived in the back yard, but the cat, who knew he was superior, lived inside the house.

If you give me an opportunity, I will have a future, but if you don’t give me an opportunity, I won’t have a future.