EDUCATION AND ACADEMIC POSITIONS

Education

UNIVERSITY OF CALIFORNIA, BERKELEY

- Ph.D., Linguistics, 2003
- M.A., Linguistics, 2000

UNIVERSITY OF CHICAGO

- M.A., Linguistics, 1998
- B.A., Linguistics, 1998

Academic Positions

2006–Pres. UNIVERSITY AT BUFFALO, Dept. of Linguistics
Assistant Professor

2004–2006 MAX PLANCK INSTITUTE FOR EVOLUTIONARY ANTHROPOLOGY, Dept. of Linguistics
Senior Research Fellow (2005–2006)
Postdoctoral Fellow (2004–2005)

2003–2004 UNIVERSITY OF PITTSBURGH, Dept. of Linguistics
Visiting Assistant Professor

GRANTS AND AWARDS

External grants and awards

2011 Linguistic and ethnographic documentation aimed at identifying loci of cultural and linguistic reproduction in two communities speaking endangered Bantoid languages. Endangered Languages Documentation Programme Postgraduate Fellowship, Award No. IPF0180. £42,893 (project period 2012; institutional sponsor for Dr. Pierpaolo Di Carlo)

A pilot project to survey the Buea Archives and other potentially endangered archives in western Cameroon. Endangered Archives Programme, Award No. EAP506. £10,348 (project period 2011; PI)

2009 Towards an areal grammar of Lower Fungom. National Science Foundation: Documenting Endangered Languages, Award no. BCS-0853981. $319,725. (project period: 2009–2012; PI)

Toward an integrated plan for digital preservation and access to primary anthropological data (AnthroDataDPA): A four-field workshop. National Science Foundation: Cultural Anthropology, Award No. BCS-0823404. $72,775. (project period: 2009–2010; co-PI)

2008 INTEROP: Lexicon Enhancement via the GOLD Ontology (LEGO). National Science Foundation: Linguistics, Award No. BCS-0753321. $636,443. (project period: 2008–2011; co-PI)

2007 Pangloss: An interlinear glossing tool within an existing application platform. National Science Foundation: Linguistics, Award No. BCS-0715246. $15,625. (project period: 2008; PI)

Documenting Endangered Languages Fellowship for research on Furu Awa languages. National Endowment for the Humanities, Award No. RZ-50817-07. $14,498. (project period: 2007)

2006 Documenting Endangered Languages Fellowship for research on Western Beoid languages. National Endowment for the Humanities, Award No. FN-50005. $24,000. (project period: 2007–2008)

Internal grants and awards

2009 University at Buffalo Humanities Institute Faculty Fellow (course release Spring 2009)

Digital Humanities Initiative at Buffalo summer research grant for data acquisition for the Northeastern North American Indigenous Languages Archive pilot project. $2,400. (project period: 2009; with Michalis Petropoulos)

2008 UB 2020 Interdisciplinary Research Development Fund for project Extending a Preservation Archive through a Social Network. $24,000. (project period: 2009; with Michalis Petropoulos and Thom Slomka)

Digital Humanities Initiative at Buffalo summer research grant for tool development for Northeastern North American Indigenous Languages Archive pilot project. $2,600. (project period: 2008; with Michalis Petropoulos)

Digital Library Center grant for equipment to support Northeastern North American Indigenous Languages Archive pilot project. $500. (project period: 2008)

2007 Julian Park Publication Fund grant from College of Arts and Sciences to support editing of Linguistic universals and language change. $2,305. (project period: 2007)

CONFERENCE AND WORKSHOP PARTICIPATION

(sole presenter unless otherwise indicated)

Invited Presentations and Workshops

2011 “Community” collaboration in Africa: Experiences from Northwest Cameroon. Workshop on applied Language Documentation in sub-Saharan Africa, School of Oriental and African Studies, University of London, May 14.

What are we trying to preserve? Diversity, change, and ideology at the edge of the Cameroonian Grassfields. Hans Rausing Endangered Languages Project Annual Public Lecture, School of Oriental and African Studies, University of London, May 12.

Frontier dynamics and linguistic diversity at the northern edge of the Grassfields. Presented at the Fourth International Conference on Bantu Languages (B4ntu), Humboldt University, April 7–9.

Grammars in the cloud: Linking grammatical data into grammatical stories. Presented at the Colloquium on Electronic Grammaticography, held at the 2nd International Conference on Language Documentation and Conservation, University of Hawai‘i at Mānoa, February 11–13.

Broadening Documentary Focus Lower Fungom in areal perspective. Presented at the symposium Documenting endangered languages: NSF–NEH DEL projects in honor of the 20th anniversary of the LSA Panel on endangered languages, held as part of the annual meeting of the Linguistic Society of America, Pittsburgh, January 6–9.

2010 From documentation to description and beyond. Colgate University, November 3.

Models and technologies to facilitate wordlist interoperability. Presented at the Rendering Endangered Languages Lexicons Interoperable through Standards Harmonization (RELISH) Workshop on Lexicon Tools and Lexicon Standards. Max Planck Institute for Psycholinguistics, Nijmegen, August 4–5.

Untangling some ordering conspiracies: Reassessing the source of grammatical relations in Bantu. Presented at the SFB 632 International Conference on Information Structure. University of Potsdam, July 8–10.

Linking Bantu to Benue-Congo: A view from the northern fringe of the Grassfields. Presented at the workshop Genealogical Language Classification in Africa beyond Greenberg. Humboldt University, February 21–22.

How to become a “Kwa” noun? University of Toronto, January 22.

2009 Good, Jeff and Jesse Lovegren. Areal dynamics and linguistic diversity: The case of Lower Fungom. Presented at Towards Polylectal Grammars of African Languages International Workshop. University of Hamburg, November 27–29.

Endangered Languages Information and Infrastructure Workshop. Chair of Collaboration and Outreach Working Group. University of Utah, November 12–14.

Linguistic anthropology in the twenty-first century. Colgate University, October 28.

From documentation to description and beyond. Colgate University, October 28.

- 2009 Shaping digital linguistics. University of Michigan, October 2.
- How to become a “Kwa” noun? Michigan State University, March 5.
- Migration, diversification, contact, and ideology (among other things): Towards an areal grammar of Lower Fungom. University at Buffalo Humanities Institute Faculty Fellows Lecture Series, February 11.
- 2008 Living Sources in Lexical Description planning meeting. Max Planck Digital Library, September 30–October 1.
- Information-structure alignment and sentential fields: Reassessing Bantu’s syntactic typology. University of Toronto, May 2.
- 2007 A twice-mixed creole? Tracing the history of a prosodic split in the Saramaccan lexicon. Dartmouth College, November 15.
- Digital data and language documentation. Dartmouth College, November 15.
- Reference databases, research databases, and typological databases. Presented at the Syntactic Structure of the World’s Languages Database project meeting. New York University, November 9–10.
- Towards the Interoperability of Language Resources*. Stanford University, July 13–15. Co-chair of working group on Tools Interoperability and Input/Output Formats.
(Report published at <http://linguistlist.org/tilr/working-group-reports/Working%20Group%201.pdf>.)
- 2007 From discourse serialization to templatization in the development of the Bantu verb. Wayne State University, April 20.
- Discourse-serialization, Benue-Congo, and Bantu templatization. Rice University, February 8.
- 2006 Organizational workshop for the Oliver Wilke Foundation for Languages. Giessen, Germany, December 1–3.
- Annual meeting of the Digital Endangered Languages and Musics Archive Network (DELAMAN). London, November 2–3.
- Working session on the design of the Language Variation Library. Center for the Advanced Study of Language, University of Maryland, April 14.
- Information structure and argument order in Benue-Congo. University at Buffalo. January 30.
- Why is Saramaccan different? Presented at the panel Prosodic descriptions of creole languages: Implications for creole formation, held at the meeting of the Society for Pidgin and Creole Linguistics, Albuquerque, January 7.
- 2005 First internal working meeting for the Deep Linguistic Processing with HPSG Initiative (DELPH-IN). Lisbon, August 18–20.
- Language Documentation: Theory, Practice, Values*. Conference summarizer. Harvard University, July 9–11.
- E-MELD Workshop 2005: Linguistic Ontologies and Data Categories for Language Resources*. General Ontology for Linguistic Description Liaison for the Caucasian, Turkic, and Mongolic Working Group. Cambridge, Mass., July 1–3.

- 2005 Good, Jeff and Emily M. Bender. Descriptive morphological analysis in Montage: Developing a tool for the morphological analysis of underdescribed languages. School of Oriental and African Studies, University of London, June 21.
