

Disposition effect

People dislike incurring losses much more than they enjoy making gains, and people are willing to gamble in the domain of losses. Consequently, investors will hold onto stocks that have lost value...and will be eager to sell stocks that have risen in value.

PROSPECT THEORY

