

Belosmium, completed in 2020, explores the problem of exponential bias, and the incidence of misleading logarithmic representations of information. To paraphrase the author William Gibson: dystopia is here, but unevenly distributed; while this piece investigates the idea that perhaps dystopia is evenly distributed across time and history. Belosmium is dedicated to Gottfried Michael Koenig and Paul Berg. duration: 8:50