BITTER CONTESTS FOR LEGISLATURE EXPECTED IN N. Y.
Leaders Launch Sharp Campaigns Aimed at Control of Senate, Assembly.

By PAUL H. KING
(United Press Staff Correspondent)
Albany, N. Y., Aug. 21—(UP)—The approaching state primaries, to be marked by bitter contests in various districts, drew the attention today of Democratic and Republican leaders preparing for the November elections.

Leaders of both parties already have launched sharp campaigns for full control of both houses of the legislature.

Various members of the senate and assembly, facing contests hurried back to their homes after adjournment of the special legislative session to open their drives for renomination.

Republican chieftains predict that they will wipe out the slender, one vote majority held by Democrats in the senate. They feel assured they will retain control in the assembly.

Democrats, however, are confident not only of maintaining their senate majority but of extending their strength to the lower house.

They hope to pick up a senate seat from the 45th district made vacant by the decision of Senator Cosmo Gilano, Rochester Republican, not to seek re-election because of ill health.

Republicans, however, were expected to center their attack upon Democratic seats in Greater New York city.

With the "new deal" scheduled to face a severe test in President Roosevelt's home state in November, Democratic leaders are directing their immediate attention to renomination and nomination of strong candidates for congress.

Governor Lehman, who, it is understood, is privately planning his campaign for re-election, will discuss the primaries and fall elections with the president at the summer White House in Hyde Park in the near future.

Republicans, anxious to increase their strength in the New York state congressional delegation, are planning a state-wide campaign.

The youths were rescued by boats and taken from the island as fire swept from building to building.

Ten structures were razed by the fire which scarred one of the beauty spots in this region.

MISPLACED MACHINE CAUSES FRENZY OF WORK AT COPHOUSE
Police Notify Outlying Towns of Threat Before Driver Remembers.

A misplaced automobile sent the police department into a frenzy of activity for 5 minutes at 10 a. m. today.

Matthew J. Hollander, 120 Rugles street, chauffeur for Dr. Edwin G. Mease, reported that he parked the doctor's car in Central avenue while he went into the Palmer & Rowe building.

He did another errand down the street, he told Acting Chief Rahn, and upon his return found that the car was missing.

"It was locked, too," he said, showing the keys.

A funeral procession had been expected at Fourth street and Central avenue and patrolmen had been detailed there to handle traffic.

"If someone would risk taking a locked car with policemen as near as that, it must be serious," the chief thought, and while officers were dispatched to watch the streets and acting chief and Desk Lieutenant Daniel Maloney set about notifying the outlying towns.

Brocton, Silver Creek and Fredonia had been notified and the Westfield and Jamestown departments were on the wire when Hollander returned to headquarters.

"I found it," he said, "I forgot that when I left the Palmer & Rowe building I moved it down the street and left it between Third and Fourth streets."
