Club Members Elect New Board
Revise Key Bylaws
Hear Plans for Club’s Future

At the Club’s annual meeting on October 28th, the voting members filled seats on the Board of Directors, revised key bylaws, and learned of plans for the Club’s future. Four Board seats were filled on the new, nine member Board of Directors.

Board members serve a two-year term starting in November. Seven candidates were fielded for the 2005-06 Board, reduced from eleven Directors as prescribed by last year’s bylaw revisions (see the October Ripples). Paul Cannon, Don Finkle, and Tom Tomaszewski were reelected to the Board for another two-year term, and Bruce Matthews, last season’s Junior Sailing Head Instructor, joined the Board.

Mike Banks, Mark Kirby, Vic Synder, PC Gary Tisdale, and Ray Volpe remain on the Board for the second year of their two-year term.

At its organizational meeting in November, the Board elected the following officers for 2005-06:

Commodore, PC Gary Tisdale
Flag Officers
  VC Fleet, Vic Synder
  VC Yard, Mark Kirby
  VC House, Mike Banks
Treasurer, Tom Tomaszewski
Secretary, Ray Volpe

Directors
  Junior Sailing, Bruce Matthews
  Membership, Paul Cannon
  Publicity, Don Finkle

Club Bylaws allow for three additional directors to be appointed by the Board. Standing Committee chairs should be appointed by the Commodore, subject to the Board’s approval, at the Board’s first regular meeting scheduled for Monday, December 12th.

Following annual reports by the outgoing Board of Directors, members approved Bylaw revisions designed to simplify membership status, attract younger members, recognize bar charges when satisfying food minimums, ease payment of annual dues with monthly billing, and improve collections on delinquent accounts.

From The Bridge Deck
I truly did not expect to be writing a Ripples article as Commodore for another year. By the end of the November organizational meeting of the Board of Directors, I somehow ended up being named Commodore once again. The good news regarding the new Board is we have many people returning to the same roles, giving us consistency throughout the Flag Officers and other Board positions. The familiarity each individual has with their responsibilities should allow us to give a lot of focus to the consultant recommendations and hopefully do some creative things this year. The bad news is you are stuck with reading my articles for another year.

Those of you that were able to attend the annual meeting saw that we finished the fiscal year 2005 on a positive note. Membership numbers are up, we had a small profit for the year, and we paid down a significant amount of debt. We have some much needed stability going into 2006 with our house concessionaire excited about building on what they learned in their first year. Our focus in 2006 will be on continued membership growth, providing activities of interest to all membership categories and getting more people involved in waterfront activities, both on and off the water.

One specific item you will hear a lot about in 2006 is the celebration of the Youngstown Yacht Club’s 75th anniversary. This is an exciting milestone for our special place on the Niagara River, and we want to make sure we give it the recognition it deserves. The celebration will start with the New Year’s Eve party, chaired by Jim and Donna Huggins. Jim’s fireworks will be the official kickoff to YYC’s 75th birthday. Come down and join us; it’s always a great way to ring in the New Year, surrounded by YYC friends. Members are welcome to bring family and friends, so put a table together and join in the fun. The Bob Volkman Band always gets the crowd dancing, and there will be plenty of champagne at midnight.

We need the help of all members in order to have a successful year. More volunteers create new ideas and lighten the workload for all. There are many ways to get involved. If you are interested, contact Josie at the YYC Office or me directly and let us know how you would like to help.

Thank you for your continued support; I look forward to a successful and productive year. Merry Christmas and Happy New Year.
Restaurant and Club Hours

The restaurant will be open Friday 12/16 and 12/23, and for the New Years Eve party Saturday, 12/31. The restaurant will not be opened Friday 12/30, and will be closed the month of January.

YYCA Elects New Officers
Make Plans for the New Year

The fall began with monthly meetings in September, October, and November. First on the agenda was the election of new officers. They are as follows:

President: Laurie Hugill
Vice President: Kath Morrison
Treasurer: Gina Hughes
Secretary: Nancy Wallace/Karen Noonan

Next on the agenda Sheila Kalm presented an overview of the Club's gardens and proposed several changes and additions for the future. Many thanks to Sheila and Mike Kalm, and Harry Collins for their dedication to making the Club's gardens beautiful both from land and sea. Volunteer gardeners are always welcome!

YYCA also made plans for conducting the 20th annual Wassail Bowl that was held Saturday, December 3. Members worked to decorate the Club the week prior to the event. Volunteers are always welcomed - you need not be a YYCA member to volunteer. For details contact Katherine Morrison by calling (716) 754-8606.

Fund Raising projects like clothing sales always create lively discussion. Another project for this year is having a sketch of the YYC printed and made into note cards. The drawing was by Judy Grainge and the note cards are now on sale at the club. Tickets are being sold for the framed original. Many thanks to Karen Noonan and Rosemary Dawdy for organizing the details of this project and putting it together.

On October 2 several YYCA members willingly donated their time to hosting the Open House for the Tall Ships. Thank You! It was a great day.

The YYCA is not all work and no play. On November 9 approximately 13 women enjoyed dinner theatre in Port Dalhousie. After a great meal we laughed through I DO I DO. We had a great time and hope to make dinner theater an annual event.

New Club members are encouraged to join our group. We work together and have lots of fun and friendship at the same time. Laurie Hugill, President.

Larry Cummings passed away recently, and that was a sad day for those of us who knew him well. He cruised extensively with his late wife Dee on their various Pearson sailboats. After Dee died, Larry kept his zest for sailing and could often be seen sailing with only his Airedale as crew. He frequented the north shore clubs and could tell you which club had the best meals at the best prices on which nights of the week. Larry was a friend to everyone and was a very active member. We liked his stories about growing up in the Irish ward in South Buffalo. He had fond remembrances of which pubs were the best places to go for food and drink and for events that happened there. Only his failing health in the last couple of years took him away from YYC.

Harv Kolm has shipped his J/100 Mosquito to his winter sailing grounds in Punta Gorda, where he intends to race until bringing the boat back to YYC in the spring. Just spoke to Harv and he won his first two races, sailed main and jib, beating a Soverel 39 boat for boat in the first race and finishing only 10 feet behind in the second! If all goes well he may be taking Mosquito to Key West Race Week in January.

Emily Paxhia and Marc Gitto were engaged last week. They met while attending Skidmore and currently live in Boston where Marc is finishing his MBA. Future plans involve a move to the NYC area where Emily plans to attend grad school to become a psychologist.

Jordan Paxhia competed in her first marathon in Philadelphia recently. A tri-athlete when she is isn't working as a special ed teacher near Boston, Jordan has been competing with success in various running, cycling and swimming competitions.

John and Lori Simon are moving from Phoenix to Billings Montana, where Lori will take over as State Director for the March of Dimes. Their children, both YYC junior sailing graduates, are doing very well. Charlie is starting nose tackle on his high school football team in Arizona, and Chelsea is on the varsity sailing team at College of Charleston. She just placed second in the B division of the Freshman East Coast Championships.

Chelsea Simon, a YYC junior sailor who is now competing for the College of Charleston, finished up very well in the fall series. She and her skipper, Manton Paine, have moved up to sail in the "A" fleet and were third overall (out of 15) in the SAISA/MAISA this past weekend. Not bad for two freshmen!

A gang of YYC sailors raced in the Beneteau 36.7 Mid-Atlantic Championship recently in Annapolis, aboard a borrowed boat named Amritha. The crew consisted of Gary Tisdale, Morgan Paxhia, Travis Finkle, Scott Walter, Mark Schimley, Kristen Schimley, Mike O’Connor and skipper Don Finkle. Starting off with a 5th out of 20 boats in the distance race, they then won the first course race rather handily. Things didn’t go so well after that and they finished 7 of 14, breaking a spinnaker pole and the boom vang and tearing a mainsail along the way! Nevertheless it was a great time, with some close racing and lots of fun ashore.
"CHRISTMAS IN THE VILLAGE"
Features Members Homes

Two of our members’ homes were showcased in this year’s "Christmas in the Village" (of Lewiston). The homes of PC Ross and Mary Alice Eckert (The Peter House), located at 175 South Fourth Street; and Ed and Diane Finkbeiner (The Barton Hill Mansion), located at 210 Center Street, were two of the six homes featured in the two day event. Other homes included the home of former YYC members, Skip and Pam Hauth, located at 205 South Fourth Street, the Lasher House at 300 Onondaga Street, the Lane House at 475 Street, and the Kerr House at 125 South Fifth Street. All six of the homes were decorated for the event by six well-known interior designers.

Sponsored by the Historic Association of Lewiston and in conjunction with this year’s Lewiston Christmas Walk celebration, ticket sales from the event benefited the Historic Association of Lewiston.

$ Donations Needed for “Sun Screen” Replacement

If you missed the Annual Membership meeting in October, you missed an opportunity to donate $100 towards upsizing the Club’s “sun screen” to a water-proof awning. Following outgoing VC Yard Mary Alice Eckert’s report of achievements in sprucing up the Club this past summer (and it was a summer of significant accomplishments – thank you MAE), it was reported that no funds were budgeted for upsizing the porous “sunscreen” covering the patio area.

You say you didn’t know that the green and white striped canvas patio covering was a sunscreen? Yes Alice, following many years of service protecting diners from summer down pours, several years ago the awning was downsized to the status of sunscreen.

It has been a dutiful sunscreen, carrying on the YYC tradition of volunteerism for the good of the Club. But in its heart of hearts, being downsized has been demoralizing – and dysfunctional. I’m sure that you can appreciate its predicament, don’t we all remember years past when we were fully functional…?

Good news! Thanks to the “gentle” prodding of VC Yard Mary Alice and the entrepreneur skills of past Treasurer Pat Mackey, a window of opportunity has been negotiated with Ripples advertiser Custom Covers and Canvas for a bargain-priced face lift. Not just cosmetic, but a real restoration of all its youthful vigor as a rain-proof awning! So impressed were those attending the Annual Meeting that at Mike Kalm’s suggestion (he’s Canadian) the hat was passed around and over 30 spirited members pledged $100 each!

Well, the word got out and we’ve been overwhelmed with inquiries as to how other members can share in the good vibrations (you remember the Mommas and Papas, right?) of helping to restore the sunscreen as an awning. So here’s all you need do to be “groovy”, call Josie at 745-7230 x10 or email yyc@adelphia.com and make a pledge. Not only will you feel good, but you won’t need to wear a rain slicker when sitting on the patio this summer.....
“People have told Andrew Lenkei that he ought to write a book. After all, his story has all the elements of a thriller: false identities, midnight border crossings, internment camps. And it is also the American story of an immigrant overcoming adversity to head his own company.”

That was how The Buffalo News began a July 6, 1986 article describing YYC member Andrew Lenkei’s escape from Communism. Andrew was born in Hungary, and fled the Iron Curtain to Italy, France, Canada, and eventually America. In 1973 he founded A. L. Design, which manufacturers what he calls the world’s smallest load cells, electronic devices used to measure force.

Load cells may sound obscure, but they have a wide variety of uses. For example, “they are used in the dental industry [Andrew said] to test how much force dentures can withstand before breaking.” They are also used for robotics: “a robot can’t feel, so you have to tell it how much force to use, you don’t want it to break an egg that it’s picking up.”

Andrew gets orders from all over the world because he customizes his designs to the specific needs of each customer. However, “I won’t accept orders from behind the Iron Curtain,” Andrew was quoted in 1986.

Andrew, then age 14, escaped Hungary in 1949 with his parents. Traveling with smugglers and the passports of deceased Polish citizens, they crossed into Czechoslovakia. “By paying off police officers and buying visas on the Black market, they made it to France.” Not long afterwards they found passage on a Swedish Hospital Ship bound for Halifax, Nova Scotia, and then found their way to Montreal in 1951.

Lenkei’s family knew little about the new world. “My mother was worried about Indians… we only knew tales of the Wild West.” The Lenkei’s left Montreal in 1964 after a French separatist bomb went off in a nearby mailbox. After all that he had been through, Lenkei said he didn’t want to die in a civil rebellion in Quebec between English and French speaking Canadians.

Lenkei found an engineering job in Buffalo and put down permanent roots. In the 1970s he bought a small lathe at Sears that eventually led to starting his own business, A.L.Design. Besides electronic load cells, in 1986 Lenkei began experimenting with mechanical heart values designed to avoid crushing red blood cells, triggering unwanted clotting.

Andrew and his American wife, Eleanor, are avid travelers. Besides chronicling his trips as an amateur photographer, Andrew volunteers to entertain with his accordion before groups of all ages. Clearly all his travails haven’t dampened his spirit.
Bylaw Revisions Summary

(See the October 2005 Ripples for more a more complete description of the proposed bylaw changes.)

To clarify class distinctions, eight (8) classes of membership were reduced to the following five (5):

A. Regular
B. Social
C. Junior
D. Non-Resident
E. Honorary

In recognition that many Junior members are still in college at age 21, the threshold for Regular membership was raised from 21 to 23 years of age.

To clarify the status of Associate members, the Associate class was redefined as Social members twenty-three (23) years of age and older except those who maintain a boat larger than 18 feet on the Lower Niagara River.

The restriction that sponsors of new members may not be normally associated with the candidate in business or profession was eliminated.

To allow for the monthly billing of membership dues, the procedure for members wishing to change his/her membership status from Regular to Social status, or vice versa, was revised to require notification to the Secretary in writing, and, once approved by the Board, the monthly dues, commencing with the next calendar month, will be adjusted to reflect the new dues rate per month.

The membership dues structure was revised to reflect age groupings. Dues were not increased by these changes.

² The Old Salt class is no longer available; previous members of this category are grandfathered in.

The initiation fee for non-resident members was eliminated and their annual dues reduced from $190 to $150.

In recognition that most members plan their household budgets on monthly billing cycles, and to alleviate the burden of being billed for the whole year’s dues on the heels of the holiday season, annual dues will be billed monthly commencing in October with the beginning of the Club’s fiscal year. To bridge the transition to the new billing periods, this February members will be billed for the period starting in October 2004, and then monthly thereafter.

New members elected prior to August of any given year shall billed by taking the number of months remaining in the Club’s fiscal year and dividing it into the annual dues for that fiscal year.

New members elected on or after August 1 shall have one half of their dues waived for the remainder of the fiscal year.

The annual Service Minimum was modified as follows:

Junior, Non-Resident, and Honorary members shall have no Service Minimum.

All Regular and Social members ages 35 and older shall have an annual Service Minimum of $275 per fiscal year, to include both bar and food purchases. Previously, bar charges, estimated to be one third or more of member’s spending, were not applied to the minimum. According to this thinking, members should more easily meet their minimum, and those members favoring bar services will benefit from the inclusion of bar tabs.

The Service Minimum for new members joining after September 1 will be waived for the balance of the fiscal year ending in October.

Social members between the ages of 22 through 34, inclusive, shall have a Service Minimum of $150.
