Foreign Aid Beyond Charity

Instructions

When doing the reading for this class, there are the two basic kinds of information you need to understand:

1. What are the main points or conclusions that an author accepts with respect to a particular issue?
2. What are the reasons, important considerations, and evidence that lead the author to accept that conclusion?

For our purposes, it is information of the second sort that will be our primary concern since our most basic task is to evaluate the reasons and evidence that are offered to support accepting one possible position on an issue, rather than another.

Reading

Kuper, A. (2002, March). More Than Charity: Cosmopolitan Alternatives to the 'Singer Solution'. Ethics and International Affairs, 16(1), 107–128.

Questions

1. What are the three parts of the “concrete and controlled” question that Andrew Kuper wants to address?
2. How does Peter Singer answer the three parts of this question, and why is Kuper not satisfied with this answer?
3. What is Kuper’s own answer to this question?

To answer these questions you will have to reflect critically on what you have read and possibly re-read important passages.

Although I strongly suggest that you write out brief answers to these questions, you do not have to turn in written responses. You do, however, need to be prepared to speak intelligently about these issues at our next class meeting.
