

Highly Cited Researchers

Clarivate Analytics is a company providing services related to research, patents, and other areas of innovation. In 2021, the company identified 6,602 researchers from over 70 countries and regions who have demonstrated significant influence in their chosen field or fields by publishing multiple highly cited articles over the last decade. Their names are drawn from the publications in the top 1% of the most widely cited by field and year of publication in the Web of Science citation index. These are, therefore, the researchers who have had the most significant impact in their respective areas. <https://recognition.webofscience.com/awards/highly-cited/2021/>

Below, the first list provides the names and affiliations of the 221 highly cited (based on the composite score) researchers whose primary research area is finance. The second list provides the names and affiliations of the 417 highly cited researchers whose primary or secondary research area is finance. Names highlighted in red are recipients of the Nobel Prize in economics.
